I haven't heard anything back about a data sync collection that I submitted. How can I check on the status of my data sync collection?

Answer
To check on the status of a data sync collection navigate to: Metadata > Collection Manager > change the search scope to data sync > leave the search bar blank and click search.

You should see a list of all the data sync collections that are assigned to your institution. Select the collection you are curious about by clicking on the collection name.

Click Comments to open the accordion. Inside the comments section, you should see if a data sync specialist has been assigned to your collection. You can leave a comment here to talk directly with the specialist.
