Module 3 - Basic editing and record processing

Course description

This online course provides instruction on working with MARC bibliographic records in Connexion client, including using MARC field help, editing MARC records, updating holdings, and exporting MARC records. After completing this training, learners will have the knowledge to complete basic record actions in Connexion client.

This course is intended for learners who are new to Connexion client and copy cataloging but have a basic familiarity with the MARC record. Established, but basic, users of Connexion may also benefit from the class by thorough review of the MARC record editing process and by learning about enhanced functionality such as Spell Check and record validation.
